Ladies and Gentlemen

It goes without saying that the noble ideals of freedom, justice, emancipation and solidarity are also the guiding principles in the Algeria's post-independent policies.

Seventy-two years after the outbreak of the armed struggle against colonialism, the development of a diversified, resilient national economy—free from dependence on hydrocarbons—remains at the heart of the state's priorities, through the development of national resources in Algeria, the modernization of the productive sector, and the strengthening of development capacities across all sectors.

At international level, Algeria has consistently advocated for a stronger and more effective multilateralism and full respect of the Charter of the United Nations.

Algeria committed itself to defending just causes, foremost among them the Palestinian cause.

Algeria's accession to the Treaty of Amity and cooperation in southeast Asia (TAC) marks a significant milestone in the country's relationship with southeast Asia, emphasizing shared values of peace, respect for international law and commitment to multilateralism.

Last September, the SG of the ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Assembly, H.E Dr. Chem Widhya, made a high-level official visit to Algeria.

Ladies and Gentlemen

The relations between Algeria and Indonesia are built on deep-rooted historical ties.

The support provided by Indonesia to the Algerian people's struggle for freedom and independence holds a permanent place in Algeria's national memory.

It is with a great satisfaction that I hail today the relations of friendship, cooperation and solidarity that happily exist between Algeria and Indonesia.

I am confident that these relations will continue to be enhanced furthermore.

I’m pleased to note that Indonesia’s national oil company PERTAMINA is continuing and strengthening its long-standing presence in Algeria’s hydrocarbon sector.

Excellencies

Ladies and Gentlemen

On this memorable occasion, I wish to extend my best wishes and warm greetings to the Algerian community living in Indonesia, Singapore and Brunei Darussalam.

I would like to, once again, extend my best wishes for peace, prosperity, happiness, and success to the peoples of the two countries.

Long live Algeria

Long live Indonesia

Long live Algerian Indonesian brotherhood

Thank you.
